

DOUBLE CRIME

John Morrison and His Son Are Shot to Death by Masked Holdups in West Side Grocery.

the city for the express purpose of killing the grocer.

It is also suggested that the men might have been two of the three who participated in the battle with Morrison in his grocery store on February 10, 1913, in which Morrison was the victim.

Morrison in a fusillade of shots drove the robbers from the store, himself escaping injury. One of the holdups was killed that night by the police.

William was found standing near the corner of the store where the murders occurred, and he was followed by the police to Ninth South, where he turned to West, then back to Eighth South, then east on Eighth South back to the grocery store, where he was arrested by officers.

Description Tallies.

Williams said he was working as a salaried helper in the Salt Lake City Salvation Army lodging house. He said that he was taking a walk before the shooting, and he had attended a motion picture show earlier in the evening.

The description of Williams tallies in a general way with that of one of the murderers. He was thin and wore no vest, spoke with a hoarse voice, and was dressed in a blue coat and trousers. He was carrying a machine gun and a revolver.

Protests His Innocence.

Williams is 28 years old and had been in Salt Lake three months. When arrested, he was very excited and vehemently protested his innocence.

Williams' family, said last night that only a few days ago Mr. Morrison told him that he was reasonably certain that the men who were wanted by the police were the same two men who were later identified as the robbers.

Neighbors Rush to Aid.

Mr. Morrison lived but a few minutes. A little son, Merlim, leaned over him and begged for water, crying piteously. Mr. Morrison raised on his elbow and asked where the desperadoes had been shot. He then dropped dead of loss consciousness. The son's wounds proved fatal more quickly.

For a moment the desperadoes were seen, and brother and dying father, then a shot of 777 South West Temple street, he heard the shot, and he rushed into the store. He was followed quickly by J. P. Mahan of 800 West Temple street.

When the shot had been done, Mr. Morrison went to the door of the store and saw his wife from entering and told her of the shooting. She then called the police and the sheriff.

Mr. Mahan, an old family friend, who had assumed charge of the store, met her at the door and she told the truth in his face. With fearful cruelty came the second shock when she told that her son had been killed. She sank into a chair and shuddered silently, the while loving arms were around her.

Mother Embraces Son.

Fighting back the sobs, Merlim Morrison crowded between those about his little son's life, and he told her that the stricken woman and her right arm crept about his neck and was drawn jealously to her. As soon as she was somewhat recovered, she was taken to the home of an immediate neighbor to be cared for.

Fire on Suspects.

Joe Woods and C. E. Christensen, arrested early this morning as suspects, narrowly escaped death from a fusillade of bullets fired from a car. The two men were riding on the blind baggage of the outboard passenger train on the Salt Lake route when the officers accosted them, where the train stopped at the junction of the Rio Grande and Salt Lake tracks near Ninth South street.

Both men jumped from the train when Officers W. H. Hendrickson, Byron R. Crosby and Henry Campbell forced and, disregarding the command to halt, ran toward a clump of weeds. All three officers fired at them, the bullets striking the ground all around them.

When the men heard the shots they threw up their hands and came toward the officers. The officers said that only the clouds of steam which obscured the fugitives, saved the lives of the two men.

Both Woods and Christensen denied all knowledge of the shooting, and while they are being held as suspects the police are looking for the other two men who were in no way implicated with the murders.

Looking for Ex-convict.

The police are looking for Frank Z. Wilson, recently an inmate of the state prison, on the theory that he may know something of the murders. Wilson is an ex-convict, having been frequently arrested on burglary charges. He was seen in Salt Lake yesterday afternoon by an officer, and he was followed by Detective George Cleveland and Detective George Cleveland was looking for him before word of the murders was received at police headquarters.

Many Officers on Chase.

Forty officers searched all night for the murderers of the Morrises. Immediately after the shooting, a dozen officers hurried to the scene in the police automobiles. Detective George Cleveland remained in the store, and the other officers searched the neighborhood in an effort to obtain an accurate description of the murderers. The other officers scattered in the neighborhood, trying to get some trace of the movements of the murderers.

MR. OR MRS. DYSPEPTIC! GET YOUR STOMACH RIGHT--PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN

In five minutes! Time it! No indigestion, gas, sourness, belching.

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order--"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn and sourness in five minutes--that's just what makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches, breath foul, tongue coated, your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment Pape's Diapepsin comes in contact with the stomach all distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing--almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction, or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home--should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world. (Advertisement.)

Lillian Nordica Is Ill With Pneumonia

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Mme. Lillian Nordica is in a critical condition with pneumonia, according to a cable message received today by her husband, George W. Spring, a New York banker. The message was brief, saying merely that Mme. Nordica "had developed pneumonia and was in a critical condition."

Friends who attributed her illness to a measure to the strain Mme. Nordica underwent in the grueling of the Dutch as her husband, Sir Robert, was the part of the (Coast) otherwise known as the Fishermen's union, which with the Liberals formed the opposition led by Sir Robert against Sir Edward Morris, the former premier, in the general election last October.

After saying that he will abandon the leadership of the opposition and resign his seat in the legislature from the Wellington district, Sir Robert said:

"I will never be a party to allowing any organization representing one element in the community to gain control of public affairs, to the exclusion of all other elements, and to the avowed policy of the Fishermen's union."

Sir Robert Bond has long been one of the most prominent figures in the public life of Newfoundland. For many years he was premier of the Liberal party, which was overthrown by the Conservatives, headed by Sir Edward Morris, who was once attorney general in Sir Robert's cabinet.

It was during the Bond premiership that the disputes over the rights of American fishermen in Newfoundland waters became acute.

How You May Throw Away Your Glasses

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not need them. If you are one of these unfortunate, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear "wintors" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optonol, fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water and drop one Optonol tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two or four times daily and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye strain, catarrh, sore eyelids, watery eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this free prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may save strength, your eyes that glasses were not necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses, would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes now. It is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches, and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever increasing weakness of condition; so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, bright, strong, magnetic eyes through the prescription here given. WILLIAMS REFUSED TO FEED UNEMPLOYED

WOODBURN, Ore., Jan. 10.—About one hundred unemployed men who left Portland Friday passed through here today en route to Salem to make a demonstration before the governor. They sent an advance agent a few hours ahead, who demanded only $100,000 for the men to be fed and lodged over Sunday.

Mayor Lively refused and organized a posse of 200 citizens who met the marchers on their arrival. They were straight through the town and ordered them not to stop. Many of the men were armed and some made threats, but all passed alone.

Prior to organizing the local posse, Mayor Lively had used by telegram his office to request Governor Abernethy to refuse to grant a permit for the march. He refused. They will be due at Salem Sunday.

COTTON EXCHANGES MAY BE REGULATED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Legislation taxing dealings in cotton futures will be passed at the present session of congress, according to Representative Lever of South Carolina, chairman of the committee on agriculture. The cotton futures tax action was dropped from the tariff bill in the last session, with the understanding that some such legislation would be pressed in the regular session.

The house committee on agriculture will take up the cotton futures soon," said Mr. Lever today, "and I am inclined to think that the legislation will be directed toward regulating the cotton exchanges rather than driving them out of business."

BOY SEVERELY HURT BY A FALLING WALL

Henry Kooman, the 16-year-old son of John Kooman, who, with his father, was injured yesterday afternoon when bricks from a wall of a building they were raising fell on them, will be operated on at the county hospital today. The boy is in a serious condition and is expected to recover. The father was fortunate in being further away from the wall when the bricks fell and was not injured so seriously.

The building upon which Kooman and his father were working was a two-story building on Fifth East street. The Koomans live at 1005 West First South street. The father was taken to his home and the son to the county hospital.

Fire Quickly Quenched.

Fire broke out in the Davies block, 185 South Main street, shortly after 11 o'clock last night, but was quickly checked by the prompt arrival of the fire department. The fire was in a pile of rubbish in an unused room on the second floor. It was extinguished by the use of a hand grenade with practically no loss.

New Son Arrives.

Reverend Albert Spencer is the name of a bright new son who arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Spencer yesterday.

Fire Destroys Store.

BRIGHTMAN CITY, Jan. 10.—This morning fire destroyed the building and confectionery business of J. W. Robbins on South Main street. The loss in property and furnishings is estimated at $1000.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! IF FALLING OUT OR DANDRUFF--25 CENT DANDERINE

Ladies! Men! Here's the quickest, surest dandruff cure known.

This, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff--that awful scourge.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die--then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight--not--any time--will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knownlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair--new hair--growing in over the scalp. George Richardson and Edward Christopherson Are Facing Murder Charge.

Special to The Tribune. FILLMORE, Jan. 10.—The January term of court convened here Tuesday last, and on Wednesday began the trial of George C. Richardson and Edward Christopherson, charged with the murder of Samuel Gaslin, at Snake valley, in the western part of Millard county, in April last. The state is represented by District Attorney E. H. Ryan and County Attorney H. W. King, and the defense by Attorney Samuel A. King of Salt Lake and W. B. Higgins of Fillmore.

After two days of work a jury was selected yesterday and the taking of testimony commenced. The defendants pleaded self-defense and also that they were justified in the killing, on account of the deceased having attacked the wife of Christopherson, who was the daughter of Richardson.

It is claimed by them that Gaslin forced Mrs. Christopherson to leave her husband and run away with him. They were followed by the husband and father, and during the second night's absence they were found on the desert at a place called Gaslin's. The body of the deceased was found there, and the bodies of the defendants, and that if they came to get the wife he would kill them on sight.

The case is being warmly contested and is arousing much interest locally. It is not expected that the case will be concluded before the middle of next week.

MARRIAGE ANNULLED BY THE ROMAN CURIA

ROME, Jan. 10.—The sagratia tribunal, the highest ecclesiastical court, today rejected the appeal of the Duchess de Talleyrand (formerly Anna Gould of New York) from the verdict of the Rota tribunal annulling her marriage to her first husband, Count Boni de Castellane.

Anna Gould was married to Count Boni de Castellane in 1895 and obtained a divorce from him in 1906, through the civil courts of Paris. She married the present Duke de Talleyrand in London in 1908. In 1910, Count Boni applied to the Vatican to have his marriage to Anna Gould annulled. On December 28, 1911, the application was rejected by the congregation of the council.

In March, 1913, the Rota tribunal in Rome reheard the case with fresh evidence and reversed the former decree, thereby granting the annulment to Count Boni.

The Duchess de Talleyrand appealed to the apostolic sagratia tribunal, which today rejected her appeal. The annulment of her church marriage to Count Boni therefore stands for the present.

FELLOWS ELECTED MUST SIGN PLEDGE

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Each fellow of the New American College of Surgeons, 1060 of whom were elected by the board of regents at a meeting here yesterday, must sign a pledge. This pledge follows:

"To avoid the sins of selfishness; to shun unwarranted publicity, dishonest money-making and commercialism as disgraceful to our profession; to refuse utterly all secret money trades with consultants and practitioners; to teach the patient his financial duty to the physician and to urge the practitioner to obtain his reward from the patient openly."
